New York and Los Angeles (November 2, 2023) - The National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences (NATAS) today announced the nominations for the 2nd Annual Children's & Family Emmy® Awards. In the second year of the standalone competition, it remains the biggest Emmy competition NATAS oversees.

"We are very proud of the growth experienced in year two of the Children's and Family Emmys, especially in the development and cultivation of the new categories dedicated to puppetry," said Rachel Schwartz, Director of Daytime and Children's & Family Emmy Awards.

"Programming created for children's and family viewing has a long history of leading the way in innovation and storytelling," according to Brent Stanton, Head of Daytime and Children's & Family Emmy Awards. "In this year specifically, a year so impacted by artists fighting for fair recognition of their true value, it is more important than ever to honor the excellence of their talents and achievements," he said.

Nominees in one category judged in person — Interactive Media — will be announced later this month, as will honorees in two Juried categories: Individual Achievement in Animation and the newly-created Public Service Initiative.

Details and information about events for the Children's & Family Emmy Awards ceremonies will be released next week. All information can be found at <https://theemmys.tv/cafe/2nd-info/>

The complete list of nominees is also available on the National Television Academy's website: theemmys.tv

All voting was tabulated by the accounting firm of Lutz & Carr, LLP.

SAG-AFTRA STRIKE INFORMATION

The majority of programs recognized in the Children's & Family Emmy Awards competition were produced under SAG-AFTRA agreements not subject to the current strike. However, some nominated programs remain struck. NATAS salutes the nominated performances of those SAG-AFTRA members who appeared in these programs but reminds nominees that it is a violation of the strike rules for SAG-AFTRA members to promote or publicize their nominations for struck work.

SAG-AFTRA members are strongly advised to observe the strike rules at all times. NATAS is announcing the nominations today in hopes a fair deal will be reached prior to the awards ceremonies. The events themselves are produced under separate non-dramatic agreements that are not subject to the strike order. NATAS will modify ceremony formats as needed to respect any remaining strike obligations of guild members.
